

Congratulations to the 12 Heartland students that represented Heartland Community College at the Phi Beta Lambda State Leadership Conference held April 5-6 in Effingham, IL.

Heartland Community College students won in nine events:

- Bryce Carlisle: 1st Computer Concepts
- Matthew Barnes: 2nd Computer Concepts
- Maria Carvalho, Adam Day, Holly Morris: 1st Desktop Publishing & 1st Website Design
- Imani Sanchez: 1st Client Services
- Sarah Hastings: 1st Retail Management, 2nd Marketing Concepts
- Ricky Walker: 3rd Help Desk
- Tiara Johnson: 3rd Business Communications

Phi Beta Lambda (PBL) members Kevin O'Donnell, Meredith King and Zoie Wilson also competed in events.

Students placing first or second at the state level now advance to represent Heartland at the National competition in San Antonio, TX June 23-28.

The mission of Phi Beta Lambda is to bring business and education together in a positive working relationship through innovative leadership and career development programs. It is a national business organization that welcomes students of any major.

1st Row: Adam Day, Maria Crvalho, Sarah Hastings, Imani Sanchez

2nd Row: Matthew Barnes, Ricky Walker, Tiara Johnson, Meredith King, Zoie Wilson

Not pictured: Bryce Carlisle, Holly Morris

Each month, Heartland's Phi Beta Lambda chapter invites local business leaders to speak about entrepreneurship, networking, interviewing skills, business success and failures, leadership skills, and goal setting. It is our goal to provide mentoring partnerships with the community and professional support for our students and professional members.

If you would like to be a member/professional member or would like more information about Phi Beta Lambda, please contact Heartland's PBL faculty advisors, Linda Lambert, at linda.lambert@heartland.edu, Paul Kelson, paul.kelson@heartland.edu, Renee Collins, renee.collins@heartland.edu, or Breezy Watkins breezy.watkins@heartland.edu.